Overview

Premier MCAT Prep launched a brand new MCAT Tutoring Program on January 4th, 2023. As students took the were tutored and then sat for the official MCAT, we followed up with them to find out how they did on their official MCAT compared to the beginning diagnostic they had taken at the beginning of their tutoring. The scores below are reported cumulatively from all of our tutors. Although this wasn't "official" Premier MCAT Prep tutoring, it's by the same tutors who are listed. Please note, that not all of the exam results are from the same year. The oldest data is from 2021.

The Cohort Details

We asked all of our tutors to reach out to their students and report back on how they performed on all of the exams they took, as well as their official exam. We asked for students to send a screenshot of their official MCAT score. 130 responded and 95 sent a screenshot of their official score. Final data set of 89 students excludes those who did not have some sort of diagnostic exam score as a benchmark.

The Results

Across all 89 students in the cohort described above:

- The average score increase from diagnostic to official AAMC score was 13.8 points. The average official score was 513.75.
- The highest score improvement among students in this group was by student #64 who went from a 495 diagnostic to a 527 official MCAT score.
- 85.4% increased by 10 or more points
- 53.9% increased by 15 or more points
- 24.7% improved by 20 or more points

Score Results

- 68.5% scored a 510 or higher
- 40.4% scored a 515 or higher
- 15.7% scored a 520 or higher
